Honda accord steering fault beauty Traffic Management Bureau of investigation

The 2013 model year due to Honda accord car power steering system failure, leading to the occurrence of many accidents, America department will investigate the vehicle safety. The accord is the first half of this year in the United States the best-selling cars.

At present, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) has received 24 complaints about the accord steering system fault, about 374000 vehicles affected by this. United States Bureau of investigation survey started in November 4th.

In the complaint, there were 4 known flaws in the aspects of caused the crash, but they had the speed below 48 kilometers per hour.