American University hire strippers do attract boys school admissions representat

A private school in Florida to employ more than a stripper doing new admissions representative, to attract enrollment of young man.

The United States Federal attorney general Pam Bondi (Pam Bondi) said: "today, the school is facing a criminal prosecution, because at present the seven campuses of the school at least one hired a stripper doing admissions representative. They dress exposed to flirt on the local young man, in order to attract their admission."

It is reported, the school in 2012 due to defraud the government funds to be closed. Federal authorities said: "2009 to 2012 years, the school had to apply for 35000000 dollars (about 215410000 yuan) of the Pell grants and other federal grants." In fact, a lot of money the school are obtained through illegal means, such as failing high school students made the fake diploma.